How healthy are you – really?

Nell (26), biology teacher

‘I always teach the children that it’s important to eat healthy food,’ says Nell, ‘but I don’t always eat healthy food because I like junk food. I never have sugar in my coffee though, and I don’t drink cola. Also, I do exercise every day. I go for a run after I get home from school.’

Glen (44), doctor

Glen says, ‘I always take the bus to work. I’d like to walk, but I never have time in the morning. I know that exercise is important. There’s a very good gym near my house, but when I get home I’m usually too tired to do anything. I just sit and watch TV or listen to music.’

Flavia (31), dancer

‘I always eat healthy food – a lot of fish, fruit and vegetables,’ says Flavia. ‘I need about 3,800 calories a day because I get a lot of exercise in my job. But I don’t do any other exercise before or after work. I live near the dance studio, but I usually go to work by taxi. I sometimes ride my bike to work, but the air in the city is very polluted. It isn’t healthy.’
